FORGING A NEW PATH

Our Street Team served 73 youth last year, 41% of whom were unconditionally released from probation.

"Through EBAYC I was able to step outside of my comfort zone."
—Miguel Montano

When Miguel Montano was first referred to EBAYC, he was ready to break from the cycles of crime, violence, and death that surrounded him. After meeting with EBAYC counselor Juan Campos, Miguel began the process of self-discovery and strength. "I saw a future that didn't end with me dealing drugs, being in jail, or dead." Miguel recently completed a year-long food entrepreneurship program, and is determined to give back to the community that supported him. "I want to be part of the change. I see myself sitting right where Juan sits now, helping people the way that he helped me." We are proud of the amazing accomplishments that Miguel has made — and look forward to the day he comes back to our office not only as a former client, but also as a staff member.

FOSTERING A COLLEGE BOUND CULTURE

92% of our youth feel there is an adult in our program that cares about them.

EBAYC is a stepping stone for each of our students in their educational journey towards college. We foster this core value at all of our Expanded Learning programs at 13 Oakland public schools. At Cleveland Elementary School, we nurture a college-going community by holding a Call to Commitment ceremony for our young scholars. In front of their classmates, family and loved ones, our students pledge to be lifelong learners. Parents credit EBAYC as being a critical force in their child's college endeavors. Cleveland Elementary parent Julie Chan shares, "Because of EBAYC, Jayden now sees himself as a future college graduate."

"My son is learning the importance of a good work ethic and perseverance."
—Julie Chan, Parent

IGNITING LEADERSHIP IN THE CENTRAL VALLEY

Youth leaders surveyed 1,000 residents to inform the creation of the Sacramento Children's Fund.

"I have learned so much through EBAYC and it has helped me grow."
—Isabel Vargas, PAC member

We've taken our successful organizing strategy from Oakland to the Central Valley! EBAYC's Sacramento Youth Action Team surveyed over 1,500 youth and shared our findings at city council hearings. Among the results, 80% of youth stated access to employment and internship opportunities was important to them. "I learned new skills, but what's cool is now I feel I can make a difference," said Dexter Niskala. In Fresno, our Parent Action Committee (PAC) applies best practices in family engagement in schools. Our parent leaders are working with the Building Healthy Communities Schools Action Team, a state-wide initiative of the California Endowment, to ensure student academic success.

REINVESTING IN OUR COMMUNITY

OASES mentors volunteered over 7,250 hours back to the community.

Yiksai Wong's relationship with EBAYC started in the second grade. As an OASES program participant, interacting with mentors showed her that college was within reach. When Yiksai was accepted to UC Berkeley, she returned to Lincoln Elementary- this time as a mentor. "I want to serve as a role model to my students and inspire them to believe they too can go to college." We are proud of our over 150 OASES mentors who participate in youth and peer mentorship, community engagement, and academic tutoring. Yiksai's journey from youth participant to Lead Mentor Coordinator to EBAYC Board Member is grounded in our commitment to support leaders from within our community to shine their brightest.

"Giving back to my community is why I do this work."
—Yiksai Wong
